Floodplain Management Meeting at Achilles

The Gloucester County Departments of Planning and Codes Compliance will sponsor a public informational meeting on Thursday, May 14, 2009 at 7pm at Achilles Elementary School to discuss the recommendations presented in the draft Floodplain Management Plan. This meeting is a follow-up meeting to two previous meetings held during the development of the county's draft Floodplain Management Plan which is available for review in the Gloucester County Planning Department located at 6582 Main Street, Gloucester, Virginia, or on the County's website at www.gloucesterva.info/planning. At the meeting staff will provide information on the importance of planning for citizens living or working in flood prone areas. Additionally, the meeting will introduce the recommendations discussed in the draft plan and provide an opportunity for citizen input in this final editing phase of the plan. There will be a formal comment period and public hearings associated with the adoption of a Floodplain Management Plan in the following months. This meeting is not related to FEMA grant funding.

For more information, please contact Christopher Perez, with the Gloucester Planning Department at 693-1224 or Paul Koll, in the Gloucester County Building Office at 693-2744.
